Rice mill has the following features:

1. Designed with integrated bran suction technology, it can efficiently remove rice husks and bran skins from rice. The bran suction is more clean and thorough. There is no rice in the bran and it is durable.
2. It adopts stepless speed adjustment technology, which can be accurately adjusted without shifting gears or breaking rice, and has good whitening effect.
3. The overall design of the fan and rice milling room makes installation more convenient.
4. The machine body is double-fixed, so the machine body is firm and does not shake.
